

WORST JOBS IN HISTORY PARAGRAPH WRITING

A well-structured paragraph must have a topic sentence, elaboration (explanation) of the topic and evidence or examples of your explanation. Below is an example structure.

Topic sentence	The worst job of the Industrial Revolution...
Elaboration (1)	Firstly, steam engine cleaning was
Evidence (1)	This was because...
Elaboration (2)	It was also work that...
Evidence (2)	For instance, you had to

This I Do example has followed the sentences starters provided above. These are just a guide.

The worst job of the Industrial Revolution was a dibbler on a farm. Firstly, dibbling was back breaking work with long hours. This was because a dibbler was expected to poke holes in the ground to plant seeds from sun up to sun down which was physically demanding. It was also work that was very boring and dusty. For instance, you had to do the same thing, poking a stick in the ground for hours on end which was incredibly monotonous.

.....
 Read the following sentences and number them (1-5) in the correct order they would appear in a paragraph.

	Men were expected to dig out tonnes of dirt each day and cart it up steep embankments to be removed, which was incredibly hard work.
	Navy work was extremely dangerous as you had to cart large amounts of dirt up very steep slopes where they would often fall and be crushed, resulting in death.
	Being a navy, who dug out railway lines, would have been one of the worst jobs of the Industrial Revolution, as it was very hard work and extremely dangerous.
	Firstly, this work was incredibly hard work that could only be undertaken by the strongest of men.
	In addition, being a navy was an incredibly dangerous job which resulted in many deaths.

.....
 After completing the diamond ranking of the Worst Jobs of the Industrial Revolution, write your own paragraph explaining which job you think was the worst during the Industrial Revolution following the guide given (above) and refer to the examples provided. Diamond Ranking Worst Job is: _____

